Information on Title I Funding

(Every Students Succeeds Act - ESSA)

Purpose of this short presentation:

- Provide parents and community members with an overview of the Every Students Succeed Act (ESSA) and the grant funding received based on this law(formerly known as NO CHILD LEFT BEHIND).

What is ESSA and its history?

- In 1965, President Lyndon Johnson passed the Elementary and Secondary Education Act(ESEA) as a part of the "War on Poverty."

The #1 priority of this law is equal access to high quality education, high standards, and accountability.

- The law provides federal funds to education programs that improve learning opportunities for children at risk.

In 2002, Congress amended ESEA and passed it as a new law, the No Child Left Behind Act.

In 2012, Virginia, along with many other states, was allowed to change how the law is enacted to provide greater flexibility, while not compromising accountability.

In December of 2015, then President Obama signed the ESSA which reauthorizes ESEA and replaces No Child Left Behind.

This law fully went into effect this school year (2018- 2019).

What is Title I and what it ?

- Title I is the funding source from ESSA.
- It provides money to states and school districts to meet the needs of educationally at-risk students.
- Title I funds must be used in schools with the highest concentrations of students from low-income families.
- Title I reaches roughly twenty-one million students in public and private schools throughout the United States.

What does it do?

- Ensures that all students have a fair and equal opportunity to obtain a high quality education and reach proficiency on state academic assessments.
- The goal of Title I is to supplement the district's instructional program to support students most at risk of failing the state's challenging performance standards.
- These funds may only supplement not supplant (replace) state/local funds.
